

THE FALL OF 2020 - AND A NEW NPO

Ryan Place residents, I hope this letter finds you well. Fall is now finally here, which brings us to the events. As I mentioned in the last newsletter, all RPIA-sponsored Fall events are cancelled until further notice. Next year we hope things will be different, and as soon as we can start scheduling events again in compliance with City of Fort Worth guidelines, we will. I know 2020 is not the year we had hoped for, and everyone is ready to be festive. I would encourage everyone to decorate their homes and yards like never before! As Halloween approaches, as well as other fall events, please keep CDC guidelines for social distancing in mind, use your best judgment, and be safe!

We have been without a neighborhood NPO for a few months now, as FWPD has been interviewing candidates for the job. We are excited to have Officer Isiah Garner as our new NPO. Officer Garner is an 11-year veteran of the force and knows the landscape around these parts well. We are very excited to be working with him. The rules of engagement will be a little different than with Officer

Guadarrama. Officer Garner will be available by mobile, text, and email, as well as his office phone. His email is Isiah.garner@fortworthtexas.gov and his cell is 817-944-1316. The office phone is not the best for getting in touch with him quickly, please use the other methods (text, email or cell). Officer Garner will not be on social media such as Facebook. We are looking at a couple of options to keep the neighborhood informed through other methods than Facebook, and I will keep you updated on that. Right now we plan on sending out messages through Constant Contact to keep everyone informed. If you are not on the neighborhood Constant Contact email you can sign up at www.ryanplacefortworth.com.

On Monday, October 19, at 7 p.m., during our normally scheduled board meeting, we will have a Safety Town Hall via Zoom. Councilwoman Ann Zadeh, Officer Garner, and Tarrant County Constable Pete Munoz will be in attendance. I will get the Zoom/similar platform link posted as we get a little closer to the event. We will discuss best policies and the state of our security in Ryan Place given recent events.

In closing, I want to remind everyone that if you see something suspicious call it in. Use your best judgement to call 911 or the non-emergency line posted in this newsletter. That should be your first call in an emergency. In talking with Officer Garner he reiterated the same thing. There could be many reasons why he might not be able to respond right away, but 911 will get somebody on the scene ASAP. I look forward to the Fall colors in Ryan Place and how beautiful our neighborhood is. As always, if you have any questions or concerns please reach out to me by email or cell.

COVID-19 VICTIMS OFTEN LACK LIFE INSURANCE

U.S. life insurers are paying out far fewer Covid-19 death claims than initially expected, largely because the virus is disproportionately killing people with little to no insurance.

In the past few weeks, many life-insurance companies have sharply reduced estimates of their exposure, as measured by payouts per 100,000 U.S. Covid-19 fatalities. Estimates have come down by an average of 40% to 50%, according to Credit Suisse stock analyst Andrew Kligerman.

Driving the rapid reduction in exposure are two groups: older Americans and minorities. Older people often have smaller policies than people who are still in the workforce. The latter typically buy policies to protect spouses and children against the loss of a breadwinner's income, aiming to cover home mortgages and fund college tuition. Based on data through mid-September, the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention calculates that about four-fifths of U.S. deaths involving Covid-19 have been of people at least 65 years old. Its current total shows just more than 200,000 total U.S. deaths. There also has been a disproportionate impact on minorities, such as African-Americans. More than a fifth of Covid-19 deaths have been non-Hispanic Black people, above their roughly 13% representation in the overall population, government data show.

HOW TO SHOP FOR LIFE INSURANCE

No one needs to tell you why you need to have life insurance. But in addition to deciding on the coverage amount, you must decide on whether to buy a whole life or term life policy.

Whole life provides coverage for life and has an investing component that allows you to take a loan against the policy (It is a "financial instrument" that has additional use other than payoff at death, known as the death benefit.) The downside: Compared with term coverage, it is more expensive.

Term life provides coverage for a defined period of time - typically five, 10 or 20 years - without the investment and loan "bells and whistles".

To determine the right coverage, add up the income your family would need to cover ongoing expenses as long as they need it; the estimated cost of sending your kids to college; your debts; and final expenses at death. Then subtract savings, college funds and other life insurance policies. Finally, adjust the amount to reflect your situation.

HOW TO AVOID PHONE SCAMS

Blocking out Scammers...

56 million people lost money from phone scams in 2020, an INCREASE from the year before! Nearly half of people affected by phone scams downloaded a spam-blocker app after the incident.

There are several apps and features through your cell phone provider to block these pesky spam calls.

- Your Wireless Carrier

See if your carrier offers services to block scam calls (AT&T does, so does Verizon) Some will automatically change the caller ID to "Potential Spam" when you receive an unwanted call.

- Apps: Block Spam and Robocalls

For little-to-no-cost, you can use smartphone apps to block spam calls. Popular apps include Hiya, Nomorobo, YouMail Voicemail, Spam Block, RoboKiller and Truecaller.

(Note: the reference to these 3rd party apps is for illustrative purposes only and does not imply or indicate an endorsement. You should independently research the suitability or trustworthiness of any app before installation and use.)

With a large part of the world now WFH (working from home) due to COVID-19, scammers have branched out. They are now using a wide variety of tricks to dupe people into giving them money with new, WFH related scams.

Scammers are focusing on the tools that everyone is using to work. Attempted scams have been reported to target the new ways that people are connecting with each other for work tasks. In this way, tools like VPNs and Zoom have become greater targets. These scams often happen online over email and/or over phone calls.

The amount of reported phone scams have increased this year - use this information to identify potential scammers and put an end to scam calls once and for all!

COMMON SCAMS...

- A government agency calls demanding immediate action with threat of arrest.

- Your get bank fraud alerts requesting personal information over the phone

- You're offered FREE things: medical test kits/treatments (thank you COVID) a cruise or a vacation (Please remember NOTHING in life is truly "free")

- You're offered DEBT RELIEF or CREDIT REPAIR

CALLS FROM UNKNOWN NUMBERS...

- Do NOT pick up! Legitimate callers will leave a voicemail or send a text. Answering robocalls or spam calls increases your chances of receiving even more...
- DO Search the number on the web along with the word "scam" to see if it's been reported before.
- DO NOT RESPOND to questions like, "Can you hear me?" A recorded "yes" from your voice can be used to agree to a purchase or charge in your name. Instead ALWAYS answer that kind of question with, "Maybe, who's calling?" It's perfectly OK to be a bit coy with phone calls like this.

- DO NOT PROVIDE your personal information or make any payment over the phone to an unverified caller. Hang up and call back to the institution you might be dealing with to verify the call.

REPORTING UNWANTED CALLS

Telephone scams: File a complaint on the FTC (Federal Trade Commission) website for a suspected scam by phone.

SALES CALLS/ROBOCALLS

Sign up for the National Do Not Call Registry, a no-cost service to block annoying and repetitive calls. If the calls continue after 31 days on the registry, they are most likely scams and should be reported at <http://donotcall.gov>

SPOOFING - Report Caller ID spoofing to the Federal Communications Commission

(FCC) at:

CALLER ID Can be deceiving

Spoofing - The call appears to be coming from a number you recognize, like a bank's customer service line, an insurance office, or, in some cases your own phone number.

Neighbor spoofing - The call comes from a number in your area code in hopes that you'll be more likely to answer.

FIVE TIPS FOR HANDLING FALL YARD TRIMMINGS AND BRUSH

With fall drawing near, leaves need to be raked and trees and shrubs to be trimmed. Here are a few reminders from the city's Solid Waste Services Division about how to dispose of yard trimmings and brush.

1. Bag it - Paper yard bags can be purchased at grocery stores, hardware and garden stores. These bags are for leaves, grass clippings and other small trimmings only. No other materials may be put in these bags or they will not be collected. Roll the bag top closed; don't staple or tape it to close it. There is a 40—pound limit for yard waste bags.

2. Bundle it - Use string or twine to bundle shrub and tree trimmings. Bundles should be no more than four feet long and weigh no more than 40 pounds. People, not machines, pick these up by hand.

There is no limit on the number of tied bundles.

3. Stack It - Individual tree and shrub limbs less than eight feet long and four inches in diameter can be stacked at the curb on your weekly pickup day. No plastic bags, garbage, bulk items, stumps or root balls are accepted in brush piles. Root balls and stumps (maximum 18-inch diameter) can be placed in the bulk items pile. To avoid collection charges, make sure piles do not exceed 10 cubic yards (about the size of the old Volkswagen "Beetle" car).

4. Drop it off - Take brush to one of the city's four drop-off stations. Find one at <http://fortworthtexas.gov/solidwaste/dropoff>. The city recycles organic materials to make mulch which helps save watering costs and increases the beauty of turf, trees and landscape beds.

5. Compost it - Learn more about backyard composting at

OH GREAT...ANOTHER RISK HEIGHTENED BY THE PANDEMIC:

...Cyber-security threats against businesses, sparked in large part by the shift to remote work and a surge of cybercriminals exploiting virus fears.

When it comes to today's top threats - RANSOMWARE has soared since March. Hackers infiltrate a network, find valuable data and lock it up, demanding a ransom to get it back. Attackers are now more apt to copy and leak data, even if the ransom is paid. Schools trying to reopen have been recent targets.

Phishing has gotten worse, especially through authentic-looking e-mails that try to trick victims into handing over sensitive info, such as login credentials. Hackers are targeting remote workers who are more distracted or relaxed at home...and the types of attacks have multiplied since the pandemic's outset...

Top actions taken include securing the remote workforce through VPNs (virtual private networks) and multiple layers of defense. Shoring up passwords by pairing user passwords with one-time PINs from mobile apps, or using USB security tokens or smart cards...

Many security improvements require preparation, but not a ton of money. Microsoft and Google apps now have enhanced security settings such as two-step authentication. START USING THEM. The inconvenience will be nothing like the inconvenience (and expense) of losing your data to criminals...

CULTURE CORNER

DIGGING INTO LOCAL HISTORY

By Layne Craig

This month, I'm continuing to connect with our Near Southside neighbors over their book recommendations. I had the pleasure of speaking with Texas historian and RP's Welcome Lady extraordinaire, Ruth Karbach, about some books she has found interesting and inspiring lately.

"The People's Revolt: Texas Populists and the Roots of American Liberalism," by Gregg Cantrell. As a historian of movements for gender equality in Texas, Ruth found this study of the Texas People's Party by a member of TCU's History Department to be a helpful and engaging look at a 19th century political movement for economic, racial, and gender justice. Bonus: Ruth helped the author identify the individuals in the cover photo!

"Jewish 'Junior League': The Rise and Demise of the Fort Worth Council of Jewish Women," by Hollace A. Weiner. Hollace Weiner is a writer of Fort Worth history and Texas Jewish history whose work Ruth particularly admires. This study of Fort Worth's chapter of the National Council of Jewish Women draws on the same kinds of periodical and historical archives Ruth often works with to describe this little-known group who nevertheless influenced our city's culture.

"Emily Austin of Texas, 1795-1851," by Light Townsend Cummins. Ruth told me that this book, published as part of the Texas Biography Series at TCU Press, is a major influence on her own biographical writing. Emily Austin, sister of Stephen F., gets a chance in the spotlight in this volume, which traces her immigration journey to Texas and her role in the historical journey that led to the founding of the Republic of Texas.

Bonus: "Texas Women: Their Histories, Their Lives," eds. Elizabeth Hayes Turner, Stephanie Cole, and Rebecca Sharpless. This anthology includes Ruth's chapter, "Ellen Lawson Dabbs: Waving the Equal Rights Banner." Dr. Dabbs was a physician and activist who practiced in Fort Worth from 1892-1905. This anthology draws overdue attention to Dabbs, alongside a number of other ground-breaking women in Texas history, from the eighteenth century through the twentieth. Having used it to aid in a FWISD elementary school History Fair project, I can attest that it is full of information I wish I had learned in my own Texas history classes.

PANDEMIC LESSONS – 2020

By Christopher Ebert , Senior RPIA Columnist

What have we learned in 2020:

Normal is much better than we would have thought in 2019. Back in 2019 when we were asked “What have y’all been doing?” our response would have been to say “Oh, not much, just the normal stuff.” Boy, do we miss ‘normal’ now!

Haircuts, trimmed facial hair, trips to the grocery store, personal protective equipment, toilet paper, and Clorox wipes all were suddenly far from that-good ‘ole normal.

What we found in 2020:

We found every restaurant that offered curb-side delivery, every restaurant with an open-air patio with room for social distancing, every restaurant with a family-sized dinner special.

How we dressed in 2020:

I have only worn long trousers twice since the lockdown allowed activities outside the home. As we have all seen on the TV parodies of Zoom meetings, no one can see below desktop level. Unless, of course, you forget and walk away when the camera is on. I have converted most of my clothing to pull-overs. My shoe collection is all “loafers” with some shoe laces tied just right for easy off and on. Can’t remember our last trip to the cleaners, but our washer/dryer has worked overtime, sometimes daily.

What we really enjoyed in 2020:

Neighbors. We found that short visits, even when masked and at six-foot spacing, with people you miss seeing or with people you never paused long enough to get to know, can be just the thing to get you over a feeling of isolation. We began to appreciate the abilities of people like Dr. Anthony Fauci to help us understand what can easily be unbelievable.

What the lasting impacts will be after 2020:

Some people will be able (and maybe required) to work from their homes, making a reliable and fast connection to the internet more important. I would be surprised if the costs of our internet service didn’t increase. The necessity of a home office or home classroom might be the new required space taking over the space once set aside for a “man-cave.”

2020 will make a neighborhood and neighbors even more important.

Glad we selected Ryan Place back in 1976!

Colors of fall are echoed in the refined brick of a Ryan Place home and its beautiful trees located on 6th Avenue.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUILD OR UPDATE YOUR EMERGENCY KIT

Disasters don't wait and could happen at any time. After a disaster hits, many things are unknown. Having an emergency kit could save your life.

During disasters, first responders might not be able to get to you right away due to missing or flooded roads, downed power lines or trees or other reasons. Plan for what you can do if you are an unwilling participant in a major disaster.

During National Preparedness Month, the Fort Worth Office of Emergency Management recommends all residents build a 72-hour emergency kit for their home and a smaller kit for their vehicle. Consider it a GoBag in case you need to evacuate.

The home emergency kit should contain essentials for everyday life, such as food and water for each family member for three days, plus items to keep you informed and as comfortable as possible under stressful conditions. Don't forget to include items for your pets.

These are our recommendations:

- Canned or boxed nonperishable food items.
- One gallon of water per person per day (for drinking and sanitary purposes).
- Copy of family's communications plan.
- Flashlights and extra batteries.
- Extra cell phone battery, charger or power bank.
- NOAA All Hazards Weather Radio or other battery-operated AM/FM radio.
- First aid kit, including gloves, masks and hand sanitizer.

CODE RANGERS SEEK VOLUNTEERS; TRAINING CLASS SET FOR OCTOBER

Become a Code Ranger in Fort Worth and assist in making a positive difference in the appearance of neighborhoods and increased safety. The Code Ranger volunteer program helps Fort Worth code officers identify and respond to code violations throughout the city.

A training class is scheduled for 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Oct. 10 at the Hazel Harvey Peace Center for Neighborhoods, 818 Missouri Ave. There is limited seating to allow for social distancing; masks are required.

After attending an initial four-hour training, Code Rangers work in partnership with code officers to improve neighborhoods. Code Rangers are assigned to a neighborhood where they inspect for common violations. Those violations include overgrown lawns, dilapidated fences, garbage placed out too early, out-of-cycle bulk piles, front yard parking and illegal "bandit" signs.

Code Rangers allow code enforcement officers to devote more time to more dangerous or complicated issues affecting Fort Worth neighborhoods.

STOMP OUT LITTER IN YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD WITH THE LITTER STOMP

One thing everyone can agree on is that litter is ugly. Not to mention the public health issues it causes.

Residents can make a difference by participating in the annual Litter Stomp on Saturday, Oct. 17, hosted by Keep Fort Worth Beautiful. It's an easy event during which to social distance.

Last year, more than 1,000 residents organized cleanup activities in their neighborhoods and had a lot of fun doing it. It's a great opportunity to engage neighbors – especially youth – to celebrate neighborhood pride and honor community service. You choose the area to clean up – it can be your neighborhood, the park down the street, a greenbelt or a school campus.

Each registered group will be provided trash bags, gloves and event T-shirts (first come, first served before they are gone). Once you've collected all the garbage, there are a number of ways it can be disposed of. Visit the Litter Stomp web page for details.

(<http://fortworthtexas.gov/litterstomp/> )

There will be no in-person registration this year. All supply distribution will be arranged in a way that limits person-to-person contact. Register and learn more online, by phone at 817-392-1234 or by email.

FREE WORKSHOPS HELP YOU LAND A JOB

A good résumé can help you get a job – and maybe even higher pay. The Fort Worth EnVision Center invites you to participate in two online workshops that focus on creating a résumé and using it in your online job search.

The one-hour sessions are free. All you need is a free Gmail account. Then register and receive a link to join the workshops.

Workshops are open to anyone but specifically designed for Stop Six and other residents living in neighborhoods that receive federal Housing & Urban Development financial assistance.

Upcoming seminars:

Oct. 1, noon-3 p.m. Create a Résumé with Google Docs. Create a résumé that will attract hiring managers' attention and set you up for an interview. In this online workshop, you will begin a résumé in a digital document, list your work, volunteer and educational experience, and polish your résumé with editing and formatting tips.

Register online.
(<https://bit.ly/3jdCTzy> )

Oct. 8, 2-3 p.m. Power Your Job Search with Google Tools. Discover new job opportunities using Google Search, and enhance your job search using free Google tools. In this session, you'll learn best practices for discovering career opportunities with Google Job Search and use Google Sheets to track the progress of job applications. Register online.

(<https://bit.ly/36iM9P2> )

The U.S. Department of Housing & Urban Development fosters employment opportunities in Fort Worth neighborhoods that receive Choice Neighborhoods Implementation grant funding.

The Fort Worth EnVision Center, located inside the Martin Luther King Jr. Community Center, is dedicated to helping individuals overcome barriers, develop job skills and achieve self-sufficiency. To learn more, email Suzanne Richards

PANHANDLING REMAINS A PROBLEM, ALTHOUGH CASES ARE DOWN DURING THE PANDEMIC

The COVID-19 pandemic has had some interesting effects on panhandling in Fort Worth. Fewer reports are being made, although the Police Department continues to use a multi-pronged approach to deal with the problem.

Panhandling calls received during the first seven months of 2020 were down 53% from the same period in 2019. Across the city, panhandling calls, citations and reports have decreased considerably, with the exception of the North Division. During the pandemic, many residents have been staying home, which could account for the lower number of calls received.

Another variable associated with the pandemic was that officials limited the number of people taken to the Fort Worth City Jail to help minimize COVID-19 exposure.

In 2017, Fort Worth established the Aggressive Panhandling Ordinance, which clarified a previous ordinance with clear definitions and gave police officers a better tool to address problems associated with aggressive panhandling. Even with those changes, there are still concerns surrounding aggressive panhandling.

The Fort Worth Police Department takes a multi-step approach when dealing with panhandling complaints. Once a complaint is received or a violation is observed, officers attempt to gain compliance by educating the violator about available resources and notifying them of the current city ordinance prohibiting aggressive panhandling.

If those education efforts fail, a citation is issued. If the citation does not correct the behavior, a custodial arrest can be made. A custodial arrest is only used when all other efforts to gain compliance have failed.

HOW TO REPORT PANHANDLING

Instead of giving money to panhandlers, officials encourage residents to donate to the many local charities that assist with helping homeless people in need. Donating this way ensures that the money being donated goes toward helpful services and not harmful addictions.

To report panhandling, call the FWPD non-emergency number at 817-392-4222. Or call 911 if the panhandler is acting in an aggressive or threatening manner.

Residents who are willing to help can text FWCHANGE to 41444 and their donations will benefit the Tarrant County Homeless Coalition. The donated funds will help provide housing-related services such as application fees and security deposits; bus tickets; motel vouchers for families; and mattresses.
